SPECIAL NOTICE:

There were several complaints of not being heard, both by the remote audience owners (12) and those owners in attendance.

It is imperative that when either audience members or Directors speak, they always use their microphones! When using the microphones, remember to speak clearly and be close to the microphone head so your voice can be picked up by the mic., and transmitted thru our wall speakers, and to the remote attendees. It is especially frustrating for the remote attendees to be excluded from these conversations.

For the remote members, please remember to mute your microphone when not speaking. We had several occasions of hearing a lot of background noise feeding back into the clubhouse speakers.

These reminders will make our audio/visual meetings go much smoother, less frustrating, and more enjoyable for all. This reminder of operating protocols are true regardless of which software we use, GO TO, TEAMS, or ZOOM.

Thanks for your cooperation,

Ivan Schreur
